

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

DANIEL CORTEZ,

Case No.: 2:22-cv-01091-APG-DJA

Plaintiff

Order

V.

OFFICER MARINO, et al.,

Defendants

Plaintiff Daniel Cortez brings this civil-rights action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 to redress constitutional violations that he claims he suffered while incarcerated at High Desert State
. ECF No. 1-1. On July 26, 2022, Magistrate Judge Albregts ordered Cortez to file a fully complete application to proceed in forma pauperis or pay the full $402 filing fee by September 22. ECF No. 3. Judge Albregts warned Cortez that the action could be dismissed if he fails to comply by that deadline. Id. at 3. That deadline expired and Cortez did not comply or otherwise respond.

District courts have the inherent power to control their dockets and “[i]n the exercise of that power, they may impose sanctions including, where appropriate . . . dismissal” of a case.

18 Thompson v. Hous. Auth. of City of Los Angeles, 782 F.2d 829, 831 (9th Cir. 1986). A court may 19 dismiss an action based on a party's failure to obey a court order or comply with local rules. See 20 Carey v. King, 856 F.2d 1439, 1440-41 (9th Cir. 1988) (affirming dismissal for failure to comply 21 with local rule requiring pro se plaintiffs to keep court apprised of address); Malone v. U.S.
22 Postal Service, 833 F.2d 128, 130 (9th Cir. 1987) (dismissal for failure to comply with court 23 order). In determining whether to dismiss an action on one of these grounds, I must consider:

1 (1) the public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court's need to manage its 2 docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of 3 cases on their merits; and (5) the availability of less drastic alternatives. See In re
 4 Phenylpropanolamine Prod. Liab. Litig., 460 F.3d 1217, 1226 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Malone 5 v. U.S. Postal Serv., 833 F.2d 128, 130 (9th Cir. 1987)).

6 The first two factors (the public's interest in expeditiously resolving this litigation and the 7 court's interest in managing its docket) weigh in favor of dismissal of Cortez's claims. The third
 8 factor (risk of prejudice to defendants) also weighs in favor of dismissal because a presumption 9 of injury arises from the occurrence of unreasonable delay in filing a pleading ordered by the 10 court or prosecuting an action. See Anderson v. Air West, 542 F.2d 522, 524 (9th Cir. 1976). The 11 fourth factor (the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits) is greatly 12 outweighed by the factors favoring dismissal.

13 The fifth factor requires me to consider whether less drastic alternatives can be used to 14 correct the party's failure that brought about the court's need to consider dismissal. See Yourish
 15 v. Cal. Amplifier, 191 F.3d 983, 992 (9th Cir. 1999) (explaining that considering less drastic 16 alternatives before the party has disobeyed a court order does not satisfy this factor); accord 17 Pagtalunan v. Galaza, 291 F.3d 639, 643 & n.4 (9th Cir. 2002) (explaining that "the persuasive
 18 force of" earlier Ninth Circuit cases that "implicitly accepted pursuit of less drastic alternatives 19 prior to disobedience of the court's order as satisfying this element[,]” i.e., like the "initial 20 granting of leave to amend coupled with the warning of dismissal for failure to comply[,]" have 21 been "eroded" by Yourish). Courts "need not exhaust every sanction short of dismissal before 22 finally dismissing a case, but must explore possible and meaningful alternatives." Henderson v.
 23 Duncan, 779 F.2d 1421, 1424 (9th Cir. 1986). Because this action cannot realistically proceed

1 unless Cortez either files a complete application to proceed in forma pauperis or pays the filing 2 fee, the only alternative is to enter a second order setting another deadline. But the reality of 3 repeating an ignored order is that it often only delays the inevitable and squanders the court's 4 finite resources. The circumstances here do not indicate that this case will be an exception.
5 There is no hint that Cortez needs additional time or evidence that he did not receive the court's 6 order. Setting another deadline is not a meaningful alternative given these circumstances. So the 7 fifth factor favors dismissal.

8       The relevant factors weigh in favor of dismissal. I therefore order that this action is 9 dismissed without prejudice based on Cortez's failure to file a complete application to proceed in 10 forma pauperis or pay the full $402 filing fee in compliance with the July 26, 2022 order. The 11 Clerk of Court is directed to enter judgment accordingly and close this case. No other 12 documents may be filed in this now-closed case. If Cortez wishes to pursue his claims, he must 13 file a complaint in a new case.
